The Marist Brothers came, also 30 Nuns. There were 30 boys from St. Ignatius High. There were good talks by the boys—and also by the girls. The Fathers spoke on topics assigned to them, and they entered enthusiastically into the idea. The exercises were ended in the Father Lord style with a dance from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., adding well earned recreation to an excellent day.

Fr. Healy is also organizing a retreat for public high school students. It will be held during June at Bellarmine. He has the Sodalists and the Holy Family Sisters scouting for retreatants.

It had been held up by the great Mississippi floods. It came May 22. Mr. Martin went by train to Los Angeles. From there he flew to Mexico City. There he was to be joined by two other American Scholastics loaned by the eastern Provinces, in the same way as Mr. Martin has been loaned by California. The three Scholastics are to fly from Mexico City to Managua, which is a short distnace from Granada. Mr. Martin is not expected to return until after his ordination. The fourth member of the band is Father Cannon, for several years Province Procurator of the Philippine Mission.

CHAPLAINS

Fr. Giambastiani paid a short visit to Camp Barkeley on his way from Harvard to Shreveport, where he is stationed with the 66th Medical Regiment.

Fr. O'Mara made his post-Easter visit to California and then went 80 miles with his outfit for a two week stay in the hills.

Fr. Copeland reports tha he is still making his 770 mile triangle of visits to his several outfits; Pomona to Yuma to Needles to Pomona.

Fr. Hanley said Mass for the colored troops on Mother's Day. It is hard to get acquainted with his men, as 90% of them stay only a month and move to another outfit. He has the Blessed Sacrament in his own chapel, and finds a good number of the men paying a visit. He does several miles on foot each day, as the camp is large and the chapels and center are far apart. There are 75 wards in the hospital under his care. He says 6:30 p.m. Mass every day, with communion at 4:45 p.m.

Fr. Stretch said Mass at headquarters on Easter at 8 a.m., with an exceptionally good attendance at Mass and Holy Communion. Then there was a 50-mile ride for 11 o'clock Mass in another Camp. Here the confessions were so heavy, Mass did not start till noon. The response of the soldiers to the efforts of their chaplain is most encouraging. On April 7 he said a Mass in the "Bush" for the Novices at Los Gatos among the vines.

Fr. Jerome Sullivan sailed away early in May.

Fr. Giambastiani reports that the sham war maneuvers are not just sham. The men live just as they would in real battle. His two battalions are about 70 miles apart. He travels between the two, spending about a week with each outfit. He says Mass each day, in the evenings on weekdays and in the morning on Sundays. He visits the sick in the hospital ward tents. When he got orders to join his outfit, he traveled after it by rail and jeep, through clouds of dust and with much bumping to the constantly changing field of maneuvers.

"Jug" has become a "Spade"; "Letter A." "Letter V." The war is teaching us not only to go without, but also to do with. At Shreveport, one of the Scholastics uses the after-school group in the Victory Garden. For disappointed teachers, the letter V spells both vengeance and victory.

A noteworthy detail of the Provincials' Meeting in St. Louis this year, is that five of them attended St. Louis University at the same time as theologians. The theologate has become the Mother of Provincials. The Provincials are Fathers Thomas J. Shields, Peter A. Brooks, Leo Robinson, Joseph J. King, Leo D. Sullivan.
